Sir Robert Akenhead was previously a QC and Head of Chambers at Atkin Chambers, and has been a specialist in construction law since 1973. Called to the Bar at Inner Temple in 1972, he later became a Bencher in 1997. He officiated as an Assistant Recorder between 1991 and 1994 and as a Recorder from 1994 until 2007, when he was appointed a Judge of the High Court, Queen's Bench Division. Since 2010 he has been Judge in Charge of the Technology and Construction Court

Chris Ennis trained and qualified as a Chartered Quantity Surveyor in 1981, has been a Director in a property development and architectural consultancy, and joined Davis Langdon LLP as a Partner in 2007. He is now Director of the Legal Support Group. With over 30 years' experience in the Construction Industry, Chris specialises in expert witness work in the area of quantum analysis. He acts as Adjudicator, Mediator and Arbitrator and has worked on some large and well-known disputes.

Dr. Julian Critchlow, Partner at Fenwick Elliott solicitors, has specialised in all forms of construction law for most of his career, acting in both contentious and non-contentious matters for a wide variety of construction clients. Julian is also an arbitrator, a registered adjudicator, and accredited mediator. He has been identified as one of the country's leading construction lawyers. Julian regularly lectures and writes on construction law and arbitration issues.

Chantal-Aimée Doerries QC, the current Chairman of TECBAR, is recognised as a leading practitioner in disputes involving clients in construction and engineering projects, infrastructure, energy and natural resources, shipbuilding and professional negligence. She is regularly recommended by the leading legal directories, Chambers and Partners and Legal 500, for her expertise in all areas of her practice. Chantal-Aimée is a contributing editor of Hudson's Building and Engineering Contracts, 12th Edition and a co-editor of the Building Law Reports.

Andrew Kasriel is Vice-Chairman of CI Arb London Branch and a civil/structural engineer. After a career in construction he became a barrister and is now at 5 Pump Court Chambers.

Following the Seminar, which will conclude around 8pm, Davis Langdon will generously host a reception for the speakers and all attendees. There is no charge to attend this seminar but, in view of capacity limitations, attendees MUST register in advance with Elinor Pritchard [elinor@thevirtualpartnership.co.uk]
